Dear Yunity Team,

I am enquiring about the Web Developer role you are currently advertising on Seek.

I currently have a background in pharmaceuticals however I am now ready to change careers and I believe I have the skill set required for a web developer role.

Over the past 12 months I have been growing my web development skills and now have a good understanding of HTML, CSS (Bootstrap and Tailwind) and JavaScript (including familiarity with Vue.js and REST-based APIs). I'm now ready to move into a professional role.

I have a strong drive for continuous development that involves being proactive. I have been working on my own portfolio including free-lance work that has responsive design and animated elements.

I have a solid understanding of the SDLC and agile environment. In addition I am able to gather requirements, assess needs, collate feedback to ensure software is implemented correctly.

Previously I have worked in a community and hospital setting, where I developed strong communication skills and ability to work collaboratively to come up with tailored creative solutions to suit the client's needs.

Thank you for your consideration and I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind Regards,

Hernesha Fakir
